

Peter Svensson is Chief Financial Officer of the PBN Company in Washington, DC and responsible for managing and directing the firm's global financial and corporate administrative operations. He works in close cooperation with the firm's partners and senior managers. Along with the firm's President, he coordinates all information and communications with the firm's Board of Directors. He directs the firm's outside legal, financial, management and other advisors. He also is responsible for managing and directing the financial personnel in each of The PBN Company's offices around the world. Peter also manages the firm's global human resources activities and operational policies and procedures.

Prior to joining The PBN Company, Peter spent 10 years with Orillion Corporation, an international telecom software company, in several capacities including Chief Financial Officer and Board Member of subsidiaries in both India and Japan. Peter oversaw the expansion of Orillion, from the ground up into an international organization that spanned five countries on three continents. Peter graduated from University of Houston with a degree in business administration.

The PBN Company is the leading international strategic communications firm specializing in Russia, Ukraine, other CIS countries and the Baltic States. We help Western clients design and implement strategies to maximize their investments in the region. And, we work with Russian, CIS and Baltic companies to expand their domestic marketshare and build their businesses into global enterprises. In the United States, Europe and the CIS, The PBN Company also works with companies, industries and business associations to advance their public policy objectives at the federal, regional and local levels.